

Workplace Ergonomics

Knowledge > Innovation > Productivity

The Event

Osmond Ergonomics hosts regular seminars to provide education and hands-on experience of products that improve workplace ergonomics and productivity. For this half-day session, Hugo Bos, ergonomist at Bakker Elkhuisen, will be flying in from the Netherlands to talk about his extensive knowledge of Smart Working throughout Europe. He will be supported by Guy Osmond, Managing Director, and Stuart Entwistle, Training Manager, from Osmond Ergonomics.

A free lunch and morning refreshments are provided and there will be plenty of opportunity to experiment with products, including laptop and tablet stands, keyboards, mice and other input devices.

Programme

Thursday 11th September, 2014
09:30	Refreshments networking and hands-on
10:00	Leans & Stoops: using Back-Track for safe lifting, training and best practice (Guy Osmond)
10:45	Smart Working: ergonomics considerations for computer users outside the office (Hugo Bos)
11:45	Desktop Ergonomics: input devices, laptop and tablet stands and accessories, product comparisons and applications (Stuart Entwistle)
12:15	Questions and hands-on workshop
12:30	Lunch, networking and more hands-on
13:30	Close

Speakers

 Flourishing Workplace Seminars

Guy Osmond

Guy Osmond has been in business for over forty years and in workplace ergonomics for more than twenty. During that time, he has become well known internationally in both the commercial and academic ergonomics communities. He has also been involved in the sourcing, development and UK introduction of a number of innovative products. He has continually pioneered such products and services and is especially interested in the use of technology to improve processes and communication.

Hugo Bos

Hugo Bos has studied physiotherapy and ergonomics. After several years as a physiotherapist, he switched to ergonomics and health & safety. He now works for Bakker Elkhuisen and is the leading ergonomist in the R&D team. Since the end of last year, Hugo has been chairman of the Dutch Ergonomics Society which is a member of the International Ergonomics Association (IEA). He has written numerous articles on computer and seating ergonomics and is a regular speaker at conferences.

Stuart Entwistle

Stuart Entwistle has worked at Osmond Ergonomics since 2001. Starting as an Installation Engineer, he was progressed through the Customer Service and Sales departments to his current role. He estimates that he has carried out more than 3,000 one-to-one advanced DSE assessments, making him one of the most experienced specialists in the UK. His product and applications knowledge is second-to-none. In presentations like this, Stuart calls on his experience to provide practical examples of methods and products to address ergonomics and musculo-skeletal issues.

Dates & Venues

Flourishing Workplace Seminars

ABERDEEN – Thursday September 11th, 2014

09:30 – 13:30

Bauhaus Hotel + Kitchen, 52 – 60 Langstane Place,
Aberdeen AB11 6EN

All bookings via:
<http://bit.ly/OsErgAbdn>

Sign Up...

Please book promptly! Numbers are limited.

Comprehensive joining instructions will be confirmed a few days before this event

Flourishing Workplace Seminars

Osmond Group Limited

21 Johnson Road, Ferndown Industrial Estate, Wimborne BH21 7SE, UK
Customer Service: 0845 345 0898 | Switchboard: 01202 850550 | Fax: 01202 850560
Email: info@ergonomics.co.uk | Web: www.ergonomics.co.uk